Barbara reported that Mayo Clinic, in partnership with ASU, will be opening a new Mayo Medical School in summer of 2017. Students will have the opportunity to graduate with a master in health care delivery from ASU in addition to their medical degree.

Tours of the new downtown law school building are available through May 4th. Registration is required. Registration and tour information are available through the Sandra Day O'Connor College of Law website. (www.law.asu.edu/about/new-building)

Barbara noted that Phoenix Municipal Stadium is a great venue for Spring Training baseball games. Tickets are available through Barbara if you want to go.

Legislative news – ASURA members are encouraged to send a letter to their respective legislators indicating their appreciation to Governor Ducey for supporting ASU's new funding model in support of in-state student tuition. Letters would support the Arizona Board of Regents open letter to legislators: <http://azcapitoltimes.com/news/2016/03/17/an-open-letter-to-members-of-the-arizona-legislature/>

ASU scientist Professor Cun-Zheng Ning has won worldwide recognition for a top innovation in white laser research. This technology takes the entire light spectrum and merges it into white light. This research will take the next generation of indoor lighting to the next level.

Professor Charles Arntzen won a top award last year for his pioneering research in “pharming”: engineering plants to produce specialized vaccines and other drugs and, specifically, ZMapp, an injectable synthetic serum he helped devise using genetically engineered antibodies grown in tobacco plants. - Legislature – Hal White or Jeri Meeks

Jeri reported that ASU Capital Day was a success. Jeri spoke to the new state investment model with the Universities that speaks directly to Arizona resident student instate tuition and how ASURA can help affect state funding. Abby Polito and Steve Miller have put together a one page information sheet (included with attachments) on how to encourage individual legislators to support ABOR's $32M funding ask. The flyer includes a link to the list of representatives. (Jeri asked the Board for permission to send an informational email blast to ASURA membership regarding this topic. Barry McNeill noted that if an email letter is sent to legislators, members may NOT use an ASU email account, they must use a personal email account.) Jeri noted that all 3 bills related to the Public Safety Personnel Retirement System have passed to the Governor who is expected to sign the bills.

Other bills of note:

HB2072 – Firearms on university/college campus had a second read on 2/1/16 but has not gone further and is believed dead.

HB2338 – Educational institutions; firearms; rights of way. This bill has passed the House, moved to the Senate and been assigned to the Gov and Rules Committee.

HB2548 – AZ Revised statues 15-1861 and 1864 related to Universities and Community College – Student's Right to Speak; added verbiage that would allow court action and compensatory damages.

HB2615 – Campuses; free speech zone, prohibiting limiting any area on campus; approved in the House, moved to Senate and assigned to Rules and FMFR.

HB2157 – ASRS; political subdivision entities; precludes any new employee of a political subdivision entity from enrolling in ASRS. If approved ASRS estimates a significant debt to be repaid by current employees. Passed by a Committee of the House and gone nowhere else.

VII. UNFINISHED BUSINESS

- ASURA Board Election Results

Jim reported all 5 nominees received the required number of votes for election to Board. New Board members are Anthony Brazel, Jay Q. Butler, Jeri Meeks, Tara Fuchs Roesler, and David Schwalm. Barry McNeill commended the Nominating Committee who put the slate of candidates together for a job well done.

- ASURA Member Blast Email Guidelines

Barry McNeill reminded the Board about E-News, the ASURA Monthly

Electronic Newsletter which is used to keep the ASURA membership up-to-date on items of interest. Jo Madonna is the ad-hoc administrator/editor at the moment. As E-News has no formal standing in ASURA, there are no guidelines for its use. Occasionally ASURA receives requests to send email blasts to the membership. In response to these requests, Barry made the following proposal and email blast policy for Board consideration:

Proposal: E-News should have a recognized editor and be part of the Membership and Communications Committee.

Requested Email Blasts Policy:

Email Blast Requests:

Requests to distribute material to the ASURA membership from the following groups are honored.

1. ASU Administration / Schools / Colleges / Departments / Research Groups
2. ASURA Board Members / Committee Chairs

Requests to distribute material to the ASURA membership from the following groups will need approval by the Executive Committee.

1. ASURA members other than those covered in item two above
2. People or groups not part of ASU

Sending Blasts:

Approved blasts are sent to the E-News editor. The editor or the editor's designee will send out the material as an E-News issue.

Discussion about types of material to distribute led to rewording the policy to read:

Requests to distribute relevant material to the ASURA membership from the following groups are honored.

3. ASU Administration / Schools / Colleges / Departments / Research Groups
4. ASURA Board Members / Committee Chairs

Requests to distribute relevant material to the ASURA membership from the following groups will need approval by the Executive Committee.

3. ASURA members other than those covered in item two above
4. People or groups not part of ASU

Sending Blasts:

Approved blasts are sent to the E-News editor. The editor or the editor's designee will send out the material as an E-News issue.

A motion was made, seconded and passed unanimously by the Board to adopt the proposal that E-News have a recognized editor and be part of the Membership and Communications Committee and abide by the reworded policy above.

Further discussion ensued about content, issue frequency, and mail list. The Board decided that E-News should be a short, concise, vehicle of information, not repetitive of other communiques. Content could include a short list of events and affiliated events with links to websites. Issue would be on an ad hoc basis. Distribution list would include current ASURA membership and lapsed members, with the hope that interest in ASURA membership would be rekindled.
